Gaming Industry Leader Finds Winning Hand with Bantek-EFMARK

case study

Whether they know it or not, millions of Vegas vacationers and gaming patrons around the world have used the services of Global Cash Access (GCA). There are no giant neon signs promoting its name, but GCA, a publicly-held $1.4 billion company, is a major player in the flow of cash through casinos worldwide. In addition to Cash Advance, check cashing, and Casino Credit services, Las Vegas-based GCA manages a fleet of more than 1,200 ATMs that help bettors stay in the game.

Like the nonstop action in the casinos it serves, GCA counts on its ATMs to endure heavy traffic 24 hours a day, every day of the year. So working with top-notch ATM service providers has always been a key priority.

“We needed a nationwide company who could offer the level of responsiveness that our industry demands without being tied to a particular brand of machine,” said Jay Fraker, senior vice president, ATM services and corporate support for GCA.

Improving the Odds

Recognizing the benefits of Bantek-EFMARK’s wide geographic reach, GCA chose to expand its existing cash replenishment deal with the company in September 2004, adding 500 ATMs to the contract’s original 350.

Seeking even greater efficiency, a year later

“And the fact that they have armored service and maintenance technicians in every market where GCA has ATMs, makes it easier for us since we now deal with only one ATM service company.”

GCA again looked to Bantek-EFMARK to offer a complete package of services including cash replenishment, first and second-line maintenance, hardware refurbishment, and ATM supplies.

“After we started working with Bantek-EFMARK, we found their service to be more creative and responsive than that of our current provider, which had often been called the best in the industry,” said Fraker. “We were receiving good service already, but Bantek-

EFMARK improved service further”

After a successful three-month pilot on 200 ATMs, GCA began rolling out Bantek-EFMARK’s single source solution on 850 ATMs across the country.

“Bantek-EFMARK is the ‘yes’ company. They respond quickly to service issues and think outside the box to solve problems,” said Fraker. “And the fact that they have armored service and maintenance technicians in every market where GCA has ATMs, makes it easier for us since we now deal with only one ATM service company.”

Another key requirement for GCA was that its ATM service company have the ability to work on GCA’s own specialized machines. GCA’s proprietary Casino Cash Plus product is a 3-in-1 machine that not only offers traditional ATM functions, but also allows patrons to make debit card withdrawals or credit card advances.

While some ATM manufacturers place less emphasis on servicing other brands, Bantek-EFMARK’s independent nature allowed it to add Casino Cash Plus to its list of expertly maintained machines.

Hitting the Jackpot

Furthermore, working with Bantek-EFMARK as a single source provider makes ATM service more cost-effective for GCA. Managing multiple vendor contracts often results in extraneous charges, which can erode the customer’s bottom line. But Bantek-EFMARK’s all-inclusive contract puts dollar signs behind the company’s “The Value of ONE” philosophy.

With efficient and professional ATM service, everybody wins. When GCA’s ATMs are always up and running, the high rollers stay happy, and that spells success for GCA and its casino customers.

Summary

Challenge Global Cash Access deployed a new fleet of ATMs but found that the manufacturer did not provide the level of service GCA demands for its customers.

Requirements GCA needed an ATM service provider who could:

- Provide reliable service to maintain GCA’s reputation for high ATM uptime.
- Provide a single-source solution to encompass all aspects of the ATM program.
- Service all of its locations with a national footprint.
- Quickly acquire the ability to service GCA’s proprietary line of 3-in-1 ATMs.

Solution Bantek-EFMARK began by providing cash replenishment service and the relationship was eventually expanded to encompass maintenance, supplies, and other services for 850 machines. Bantek-EFMARK’s nationwide presence and all-inclusive service package helped GCA simplify its ATM management process and reduce its costs.

About Bantek-EFMARK Formed through the 2006 merger of two ATM industry pioneers, Bantek-EFMARK is the nation’s largest independent ATM service company.
